STARS OF THE WEEK:

23rd February 2024

Bees. Cooper: Cooper has had a fantastic week this week and his effort has not gone unnoticed. He has been working exceptionally hard in phonics and then completed some writing which blew us away! Well done Cooper – we are so very proud of you!

Butterflies. Jaxon: We are so proud of Jaxon this week; he has been trying so hard in phonics and he is becoming so independent at lunchtime. We are so proud of how much he is growing up.

Squirrels. Ada: Over the last few weeks, Ada has been putting a real effort into her reading and her writing. She has become much more confident at recognising our digraphs within words and has been re-reading each sentence to build her fluency. She has also been thinking really carefully about each word in her written sentences and making sure her ideas make sense. Keep showing us this brilliant effort, Ada. It is making such a difference.

Frogs. Mozdalafa: For settling back into Frogs class wonderfully well and making sure her classmates are also in a position to learn. As well as all of this Mozdalafa's language skills have developed wonderfully well this week and she is starting to speak in sentences in English. Well done, Mozdalafa, you are a joy to have in the class!

Mice Bexley: Bexley has returned to school with such a fantastic attitude. She is trying hard in her lessons and setting a great example with her focus and listening in phonics. Well, done Bexley.

Hedgehogs. Rowan: Rowan has been a star in Maths. He has loved our shape work and really shone with it. He has also been a star friend, helping another child who was upset. Well, done Rowan.

Moles. Adanna: Adanna is an always child! She is always ready to learn, brings a fantastic can-do attitude to the classroom and applies herself to every lesson. She has had another amazing week where she has contributed throughout, worked hard and been a very enthusiastic learner. Well done, Adanna!

Rabbits. Ellie M: Ellie impressed me this week with her enthusiasm for learning. We began our Roman topic on Wednesday and Ellie used her enquiry skills to find out more information as well as asking questions to promote her own learning. A true Richard Bonington Star! Keep it up Ellie.

"Together, we will make a difference."

Badgers. Lois: Lois has returned after half term with her enthusiasm for learning and positive attitude that I have come to know and enjoy. She loves ng involved in lessons and her willingness to put her hand up and answer questions is also a great testament to her confidence and understanding of the subject being taught. Well done Lois :-)

Foxes. Iggy: For his efforts in every subject, especially his writing. He has been putting in so much hard work with his handwriting and with his ideas and sentence structures. He is also always such a polite and thoughtful member of the class. Well done Iggy :-)

Kingfishers. Teddy: Teddy showcased his incredible acting talent during our visit to the Galleries of Justice this week. During the 'court trial' reenactment, Teddy brought his character to life and developed his own ideas about how the 'witness' may have responded to questions from the prosecution! Well done, Teddy!

Owls. Austin: Austin has worked incredibly hard this week in all his subjects! He is incredibly thoughtful and kind towards other students which is fantastic to see every day! His letter to the Museum of Justic was absolutely wonderful, best letter i have ever read! Well done, Austin, keep up the good work.

Kestrels. Finley: Finley is a conscientious student. He has worked hard this week with his Maths and English, smashing the decimals lessons and using formal language correctly! Fabulous work Finley, it's great to see!

Sparrow Hawks. Ryan: Ryan is such a conscientious student and has been impressing us all with his attitude to learning. He has worked hard to improve his writing and continually works well in all other subjects. Additionally, he is always offering to help out with jobs in class and has been a real asset this year. Well done, Ryan - keep up this amazing attitude!
