STARS OF THE WEEK:

22nd March 2024

Bees. Enzo: Enzo has had such a fabulous week. He has been working so hard during phonics and this is starting to show in his writing. Today he had such a good go at an independent sentence, and we were all really proud.

Butterflies. Leo: Leo is just an asset to the Butterflies class. He is an always child who will follow the rules, take part in all activities and is so a spectacular role model. Leo, you amaze me every day with your knowledge of our topics and your curiosity and enthusiasm. Keep up this amazing attitude and never lose your love for school.

Squirrels. Ralphie: This week Ralphie has really pushed himself to do his best. He has been amazing at remembering our facts about animals and the groups they belong to. He has tried so hard to include amazing adjectives in his writing and made us very proud with the information he wrote about a new lizard that had been discovered. It's brilliant to see his confidence growing and his ability to try out new vocabulary. Well done, Ralphie.

Frogs. Ethan: For his hard work all week. Ethan has been giving his best effort this week and this has shown in his super writing. Well done Ethan, keep up the great work!

Mice. Maryam: Maryam has settled into Mice class beautifully. Maryam is working hard especially in Maths and Phonics. Well done!

Hedgehogs. Alexia: Alexia has settled into her new class really well, making new friends, being happy, kind and helpful. She is also working hard.

Moles. Luca: Luca has worked very hard this week and made some fantastic contributions throughout his lessons and worked hard on some very tricky work. I am impressed with his concentration, and he has been a good role model to others with his approach to work. Well done, Luca.

Rabbits. Theia: Theia has impressed me this week with her resilience. She has worked incredibly hard during our tests and has put 110% into all that she has done, applying her knowledge in different ways too! Well done Theia.

Badgers. Eadie: Eadie consistently demonstrates the learning behaviours that will take her far in life. She is always ready for learning; shares her ideas and answers questions in class; and, acts both respectfully and responsibly around school. Well Done Eadie!

"Together, we will make a difference."

Foxes. Delilah: Delilah is a wonderful class member who shows so much kindness to others. She is always working hard and produces fantastic, creative writing. Her attitude to learning is always positive and its been great to see being confident when sharing her ideas in class.

Kingfishers. Eloise: This week, particularly, we've noticed that Eloise always aims to 'go further' and to 'give more' in all aspects of her learning. It is exactly this attitude which has enabled her to make so much progress in all subject areas. Well done, Eloise!

Owls. Niamh: Niamh is a wonderful example of an 'always' child! She is always ready to listen; always gives her best no matter what the subject; she can always be relied upon to do the right thing! Well done, Niamh – it is a pleasure to have you in the class!

Kestrels. Clara: Clara has worked hard both in class and with her mock SATs this week. She has shown resilience and determination to do her best in everything which has resulted in some great scores. Well done, Clara.

Sparrow Hawks. India: India has had a great week and showed great resilience with her Maths, especially in arithmetic. She has shown her maturity and responsible nature by taking a leading part in our choir performance and continues to impress with her focus and hard work. Well done, India!
